Mrs. Wells
Address
My dear Mrs. Wells
Parkside Thursday 2 p.m.
Feb 16-82
Wednesday (22.)

Finding an enclosed envelope addressed for you by Mrs. Pugh, tho' I really have no time for writing I will just in a bit of paper just to say, that I am yet unable to advise what will be the course most desirable for Miss O'Reilly.

There is nothing different in the appearance of the eye from what might be expected from such a wound as the one she received in it. I am not clear

Ms.A.7.356

yet, as to the threatening of some deep seated fungous growth, but must watch her for a few days. Where I learn, as in Miss O'R's case, complaints made of the former treatment of skilful practitioners, as being "inappropriate," "injurious," &c I know that my time will come for being placed in a similar category with my predecessors: this consideration however, will not deter me from advising for Mrs O'Reilly what my judgment points out as best: I have no hobbies no ambition to be considered infallible.

Miss Weston gave me £2 for the Crafts from your family.

The transaction was a very hurried one, & I did not think much of the matter then; but I should prefer declining, receiving anything on behalf of Wm & Ellen Craft, from Americans — especially from Abolitionists. They sought our hospitality & hospitality; they are our guests; it is the business of the English hostess to shelter, succour, & provide for them.

It was this view of the matter which disinclined me last years to apply to you for some offered help. — I will retain the £2, "for return", or to be used for you, in any way you may direct.

I hope Mrs Pugh (as please greet) may have to do you [illegible] Bishop's letter from Saint Louis of Aug. 28? He remains true, & will come back a disputed condemner, root & branch, of the "peculiar institution," — not its apologist.

Did you see the circular I sent you about the Cotton? I wish we could "hook" you up to our A.S. point, but it is impossible — I looked about in vain for Emma & 46 Portland Place! I hate to keep you I thank for her! Much love to her & Lizzie & Annie. Love from J. B. Webb

MS. A. 7. 356